

New Zealand Institute of Management Southern and Development West Coast welcome all professionals in the public and private sectors, trades people, business owners and leaders in the community to join us for a networking evening with Tom McBrearty, Acting CEO NZIM Southern.

Tom McBrearty
Acting CEO, New Zealand Institute of Management Southern

Tom has been involved in a wide variety of industries and business since 1985 including newspapers, tourism, meat, agriculture, motoring, hospitality, retail and manufacturing including printing, packaging, plastics and fashion clothing. As a former Chair of District Tourism, NZ Automobile Association, Cycling Selector/Coach and representative sitting on inner city development committees he is aware of the value of training, communications and leadership in sport, business and community.

He combines his sport, business and community experience into a presentation that is topical, challenging and focused on ethical business behaviour that makes for success in business.

So mark your diaries, bring along some business cards and we look forward to seeing you at our first Networking event for 2010!
